

Do You Wanna Have a Baby?

(alternate lyrics to Frozen's "Do You Wanna Build a Snowman?")
by Jennifer Flanders

Do you wanna have a baby?
So cute and cuddly and small?
Then we could kiss his little nose
And count his tiny toes
And watch him learn to crawl.
A baby is a blessing
From above.
You'll love him, and so will I.
Do you wanna have a baby?
I know you'd love to make a baby!
C'mon... let's try.

Do you wanna have a baby?
So fresh and innocent and new?
I bet her skin will be as soft as silk;
I'll feed her mother's milk
And listen to her coo.
I wanna hear her heartbeat
Deep within my womb
Grow stronger as days go by—
(Lub dub lub dub lub dub)

Do you wanna have a baby?
With chubby cheeks and downy head?
I'll sing him lullabies and hug him tight
And rock him every night
Then tuck him into bed.
I wanna be a mother.
It's ingrained in me:
What I was meant to do.
Do you wanna have a baby?
